The intent of my letter is to record my sentiments for record in asking you to revisit your decision to grant bail for Marshagay Reynolds. The Marsha I know has never had a criminal record or instinct to break any provision of the law.

I have been a close friend of Marsha for many years. We met when we were students at NYU. She is a valuable person to me—she always has been and presumably will always be. She is one of the most considerate, intelligent, spiritual and energetic people I know.

Based on the Marsha I know, I don't want to believe that she is capable of this most serious act and I continue to believe that she will do everything in her power to cooperate with authorities and set the record straight. That being said, I am in no way, shape or form seeking to oversimplify the complex nature of her case and/or the charges. Yet, I am of the opinion that Marsha is best suited to do so from a place of support, love and proper counsel; her parents' home in New York. I have always known Marsha to be an honest and upright person. We have had over a decade-long friendship and I have also known Marsha to be a law-abiding citizen. Marsha is absolutely not a flight risk because I don't believe she would jeopardize her freedom, her loving parents, and her goals in life—to emulate and become a nurse like her Mom and Aunt, or dear friends like me.

In closing, Marsha is a wonderful, decent, loving and upstanding person. From our days at NYU to her letters to me during two tours of duty in Iraq, Marsha has never forgotten me and I want her to know in this deepest hour of despair—I haven't forgotten her. Your Honor, I most humbly ask that you re-consider granting her bail and ultimately do so.

Very Respectfully,

Alvin Phillips
